to provide interim coverage for a possible North Vietnam mission, should the weather break in that area.

d. The USAF representatives to the 23 June meeting also reported action under way to move U-2 fuel to [redacted] in sufficient quantity to support anticipated operations there. [redacted]

e. Preliminary arrangements were made with Air Force representatives on 23 June to conduct conversion training to Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio, Texas for an Edwards Air Force Base U-2 pilot so that a capability would exist to back-up current Cuba coverage requirements in the event of an aircraft malfunction in the CIA inventory at Edwards.

f. Additionally, raw film to support accelerated operations from [redacted] has been shipped via military air to that location. Specialized equipment requirements have been re-examined for this mission and additional support has been requested as necessary. An augmentation of security personnel at the TACKLE detachment [redacted] began 23 June, designed to give the unit a courier capability for accompanying mission take to the Air Force processing center [redacted]. Preliminary arrangements have been made with USAF to furnish fast mission take transport both from [redacted] and the Philippines once the [redacted] is in place there.

2. It is anticipated that the SAC unit of U-2's now [redacted] will move to [redacted] following [redacted] for flights this week. The Detachment Commander of the U-2 unit at Edwards Air Force Base, together with his principal security officer, depart Seattle the evening of 25 June as an advance party to meet with the [redacted] and to proceed from there to the Philippines without delay to make preliminary arrangements with the Navy for the reception of the [redacted] unit. Additional steps will be reported as the situation develops.
